While growing up in Clovis, Kenneth attended Bella Vista Elementary School, Gattis Junior High, and Clovis High School. He did expand his horizons in New York with his father, Henry Alphonso Grant, and attended P. S. 192 Queens, New York.

During his high school years, Kenneth did enjoy the game of football. He was very athletic, and there on the football field, Kenneth's leadership skills evolved.

He was able to express who he really was through his demonstration of true integrity. He received a Bachelor of Science in Sociology, with a minor in Political Science. He was also President of the campus organization, KUSH/Black Student Union, and his hidden talent was singing in the Weusi Choir.

Due to his father being in the military, he has lived in several cities. He was born in Aquadilla, Puerto Rico, which led to Rapid City, South Dakota, Lake Charles, Louisiana, Queens Village, New York, Clovis, New Mexico, and his final journey, Houston, Texas.

Houston, Texas began his career with children in less fortunate situations. Family Connection, Texas Key, Covenant House, New Life Beginnings, and A Fresh Start Treatment Center are the agencies where Kenneth demonstrated his passion of being an advocate for children.
